Webley & Scott Model 900 Sporter with RGS logo engraved on the stock.

The model 900 series over-under shotguns were designed with quality in mind. These striking examples of modern craftsmanship call upon over 200 years of Webley & Scott's manufacturing experience, and have resulted in one of the best performing, highest value for the money, double guns on the market today. All models are British Engineered and Turkish built. The manufacturing process is overseen by W & S' Master Gunsmith who has been with them for 35 years.

The 900 Sporter Series is available for purchase in .410 and 12, 20, and 28 gauges. 12 ga. available in 28"(7.4#) and 30"(7.5#) bbls; 20 ga. in 26"(6.3#) and 28"(6.4#) bbls; 28 ga. in 26"(5.8#) and 28"(5.9#) bbls, and .410 in 26"(5.4#) and 28"(5.5#) bbls. All, except the 28 with 2 3/4", have 3" steel shot proofed chambers, automatic ejectors, 5 interchangeable chokes (C, IC, M, IM, F) and wrench, fiber optic front sight, ventilated ribs (12 - 10mm, 20 - 8mm, 28 - 7mm, .410 - 7mm), single selective trigger set at 5-5.5# pull, manual safety, pistol grip and Schnabel forend, hand oiled Turkish walnut stocks capped with a rubber recoil pad. These fine box lock design guns feature high gloss blued chrome lined barrels and molybdenum-chrome steel* action with exquisitely jeweled mono-bloc walls, gated barrel selector, heavy duty hammer springs, steel CNC machined receiver* and a high quality fleece lined, locking, leather clad presentation case with brass accents. All internal parts CNC, machined from a single solid steel* billet featuring 100% interchangeability of parts between guns.

One major difference on the 28/.410 models is that the receivers are aluminum, and as such, can not be blued. They are anodized with a matte black finish.

As of June 14, 2013, left-hand models of the 12 and 20 gauge shotguns, only, are expected to be available within 2-3 weeks. These will cost an additional $50 to cover the special manufacturing. Use the contact email below for ordering instructions.
